

THE CADET CHRONICLE

Connecticut Wing Summer Encampment 2015

Issue #3 August 2, 2015 Sunday

Staff of the Day:

Officer of the Day:

NCO of the Day:

C/SMSgt Doolittle

Word of the Day:

Determined: Focused, perseverance

Joke of the Day:

What did the farmer call the cow that had no milk?

An udder failure.

Remember to always say,
"Thank You Services!"

Students Arrive at Camp Niantic

Yesterday 1 AUG, 2015 the students arrived at the 2015 CTWG Encampment. The students then went through the "in-processing" program. Each student was checked in with the ADMIN department, was checked and given clearance for all medications, the students took an encampment photo. All students were registered for an Orientation Flight and then given Encampment tee-shirts. The 1st Sergeant escorted the students to their barracks for contraband inspections. Students took the General Knowledge test, GK, which will test the knowledge of the students so they can see their improvement through out the week. Later in the day the students took part in a DDRX lesson (Drug Demand Reduction) and an expectations class. After dinner they proceeded to learn about how to set up a bunk and make their beds because, students' beds will be inspected by the SET team.

Submitted by: 2015 CTWG Encampment PAO Staff

Safety Tip of the day:

How to have a Successful Encampment:

The 2015 CTWG Encampment PAO Staff asked the cadet cadre for some tips about how to be a successful cadet during the encampment.

“Always greet the cadre at all times, seniors and cadets” -C/CMSgt Sogliuzzo

“Don’t call the blonde First Sergeant Sir” -C/2nd Lt Pate

“Always call the room to attention” - C/2nd Lt Poe`

“Talk less, Listen More” - C/ 2nd Lt Balding

“It’s not as scary as it seems” -C/Col Hocutt

Remember to Hydrate

